

Number of Volunteers

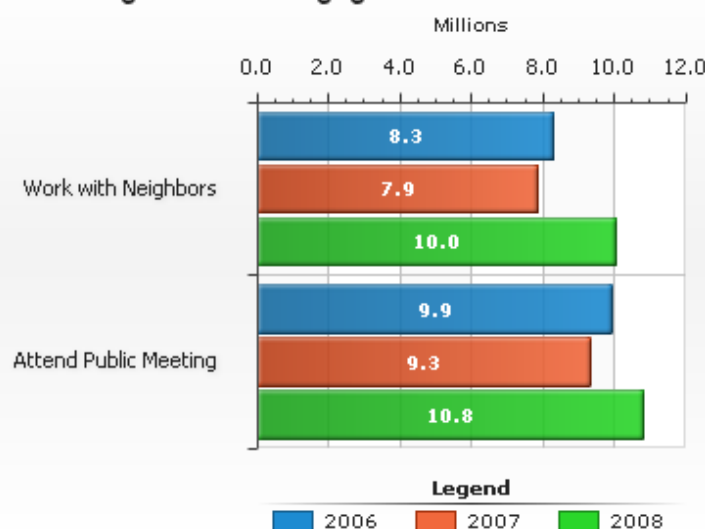

Trends and Highlights

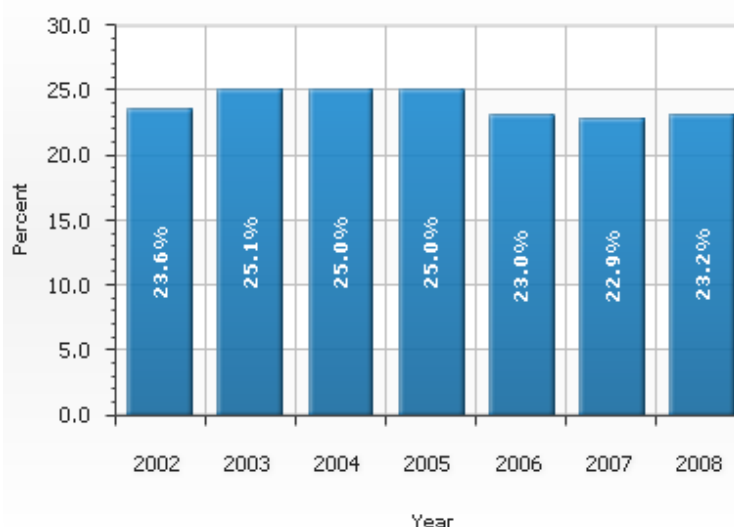

- In 2008, 8.5% of American adults reported that they worked with their neighbors to fix a community problem. This is an increase of over 4.6 million people, from a little more than 15 million in 2007 to almost 20 million in 2008
- Men were more likely to serve their community in this capacity, with 8.8 percent working with their neighbors compared to 8.1 percent of women doing the same, despite the fact that women were more likely to volunteer through or for an organization than men
